WORKING IN PARTNERSHIP WITH ATLANTA AND DEKALB COUNTY SCHOOLS TO HELP YOUNG PEOPLE STAY IN SCHOOL AND PREPARE FOR LIFE

Office Depot Back Pack Event

Last month, as part of the National Back Pack Program, the local Office Depot distributed more than 5,000 back packs to fourteen non-profit organizations and elementary schools in Atlanta. Office Depot began the program in 2001, making this its fifth year committed to “caring and making a difference” in the communities it operates and serves.

In attendance on August 4th, board member, Catherine Stengel accepted the donation of 500 back packs filled with basic school supplies to distribute to students just in time for the start of the school year. Also in attendance was Jeff Nesbit, Office Depot Store Manager, Matthew Dailey, District Manager, Cheryl Crocker, RVP, and Kimberly Davis, Constituent Service Specialist from Mayor Shirley Franklin’s office.
